Early signs of Alzheimer’s disease

Are you noticing changes in your loved one? The warning signs may seem gradual, but they are distinct. Learn to recognize the early signs of Alzheimer’s disease. Problems may include:

- Mood and personality changes
- Memory loss
- Increased anxiety and/or aggression
- Wandering and getting lost
- Trouble handling money and paying bills
- Repeating questions
- Problems with eating
- Problems with coordinating activities
- Problems with daily living

Recognize the symptoms.
Seek medical intervention.
Make plans for your loved one’s future today.

Source: SAMHSA depression signs and symptoms, https://www.samhsa.gov/treatment/mental-disorders/depression#signs-symptoms

www.abhihealthcaritas.com